

FINAL INSIGNIA OF RANK CONFERRED ON FIVE CARDINALS

Three Spaniards and Two Austrians Receive Red Hats From Pope.

ROME, Dec. 2.—At a public consistory of the Sacred College, Pope Pius X today conferred the Red Hat on the last five of the eighteen cardinals created a year ago, who as yet had not received the final insignia of their rank as princes of the church.

The five included three Spanish cardinals and two Austrians, who at the time of their elevation, November 27, 1911, instead of coming to the Vatican for the red barrette and red hat, received the barrette from the King of Spain and the Emperor of Austria, and waited for their hats until summoned to Rome by the Pope.

The five honored today were: Giuseppe Maria de Cos y Macho, archbishop of Valladolid; Antonio Vico, apostolic nuncio to the court of Madrid; Enrico Almaraz y Santos, archbishop of Seville; Francesco Bauer, archbishop of Olmutz; and Francesco Nagel, archbishop of Vienna.

Contrary to expectation, the Pope failed to announce the elevation to the Sacred College of Mr. Mendes Bello, primate of Lisbon. At last fall's consistory Mr. Bello was created a cardinal "in pectore," that is, it was made known that he was to be a cardinal when his duties at the Portuguese capital would permit. Pope Pius is believed to have preferred that he remain at his post until the present conflict between church and state in Portugal becomes more settled.

Sixty-one Cardinals Now.
The final elevation of the six cardinals brings the membership of the Sacred College of sixty-one. Of these Pope Pius has created thirty-five since November 9, 1909, when he held his first consistory. Thirty-three of the cardinals are Italians and twenty-seven of other nations. Since the eighteen cardinals were created a year ago, four members of the Sacred College have died: Cardinal Fisher, of Cologne; Cardinal Samassa, of Austria; Cardinal Coullié, of France; and Cardinal Capocciolo, of Italy.

The ceremony today was carried out in the hall of beatification of the Vatican with all the pomp and pageantry that has marked papal functions for centuries. The hall was divided according to the rank of the brilliant audience, including members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican, all in full uniform and decorations; the generals, superiors and high officials of the various religious orders; and the members of the Roman aristocracy who have refused to ally themselves with King Victor Emmanuel.

Preceding the public consistory, the five cardinals met in the Sistine Chapel and took the oath before the papal cortege moved into the public hall.

GEN. SICKLES WILL SELL HIS PICTURES

War Hero Willing to Borrow $5,000 From Any One for Six Months.

Washingtonians are interested in the contemplated sale at auction on Wednesday, of the valuable curio and art collection of Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, former United States minister to Holland, known throughout America as a fighting military man and author, and one fought a duel in this city some years ago with a man whom he accused of flirting with his wife. General Sickles owes notes aggregating $5,000, he says, and is unable to meet them. They already are past due, and from New York today came the report that the sheriff already is prepared to conduct the sale.

"I don't want charity," General Sickles is saying. "I have one thing to be some one in this country that is willing to stand up for his rights. I will make it a point to pay my debts, and will give my curio and paintings as security. I have one painting worth $10,000."

The second Mrs. Sickles, from whom he owes the $5,000, said to have been derived on jewels placed in pawn. This sum, however, was paid in full, and the second Mrs. Sickles is now in a sanatorium, and notes bearing his signature.

St. Paul's Cathedral Celebrates Anniversary

The first divine services in the present St. Paul's Cathedral in London, were held in the choir, the only part of the edifice then completed, 215 years ago today. This world famous building occupies the site of a pagan temple to Diana. The first church was destroyed during the Diocletian persecution, in 304, and was rebuilt in the first reign of Constantine, demolished by the pagan Saxons in the sixth century.

Destroyed by the great London fire of 1666, the present edifice was laid in 1667. Twenty-two years later the first services were held in the choir, and the whole edifice was finished two centuries ago, at a total cost of £1,511,302.

The cathedral is 510 feet long, 232 feet wide, and of an extreme height of 104 feet. The interior ornamentation, according to the original designs of Sir Christopher Wren, has not been entirely carried out and has been the subject of much discussion.

Avoid Soothing Syrups

Cure Your Cough by Nature's Method

The danger in using soothing syrups and patent medicines for coughs and colds lies in the fact that they so often contain drugs and opiates. These deaden the functions instead of supplying the healing ingredients that assist Nature to throw off the germs that cause the trouble.

To secure immediate relief and to break up the most severe cold inside a single day, shake together in a bottle a couple of ounces of glycerine, eight ounces of whiskey, and half an ounce of cod liver oil. Shake well and take a teaspoonful every four hours. This is a natural remedy and entirely harmless.

Any druggist can supply you with genuine Virgin Oil of Pine, which comes only in sealed half-ounce vials in wooden cartons bearing the label of The Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.

BOY SCOUT TROOP RETURNS FROM HIKE IN NEARBY FIELDS

Fourteen Lads Slept Out Two Nights, Cooked Their Own Meals and Feel Fine.

The fourteen members of Boy Scout Troop No. 24, which left Washington last Thursday for a three days' hike into the country, returned last night after three days and two nights spent in the open, in perfect condition and most enthusiastic over their trip. Vernan Bailey, the scoutmaster, who had the boys in charge, declared that the trip was most successful and that the boys learned more of the out-of-door life in three such days than they would have in a month under ordinary circumstances.

The boys spent the first night out in a pine woods near the Catholic University of America. Each was provided with a sleeping bag, of his own manufacture, which proved to be watertight and warm and every one of them slept like tops. They cooked their own food.

Mr. Bailey, who is a naturalist in the employ of the Government, called the attention of the boys to each thing of interest, from a naturalist's standpoint. Troop 24 of the Boy Scouts, gave today a Thanksgiving dinner on Saturday night, every item of which was provided by the members and cooked by them. I. W. Partin, scoutmaster, provided the turkey and each boy brought some other item of the feast. The dinner was eaten in the Northeast Industrial School of which Miss Flora Hendley is supervising principal. Miss Hendley has taken a deep interest in the Boy Scouts and it is through her courtesy that they hold meetings in the school.
